MHANYS SMHRTCenter recognizes American Education Week (November 18-22), which celebrates the nation's public education system and the invaluable contributions of our educators, support staff and the entire school community. The presidential proclamation declares, "During American Education Week, we show our gratitude to the educators and school staff across our Nation, who are the kite strings that keep our national ambitions aloft. And together, we will work to ensure our Nation's students have every opportunity to succeed." Learn more about the theme for each day of this week here. The SMHRTCenter endeavors to support school communities across New York State to foster mental health and wellness and supportive environments through web-based resources, online and in-person trainings, and technical assistance.
